DO YOU KNOW WHY A

Carroll Buggy

will outwear any other buggy made? Every bit of stock in gearing and wheels is selected hickory; all the gear irons are wrought; no cast parts.

The bodies are built right here in our own shop, of second growth ash and yellow poplar, the panels are securely glued and then screwed on with 54 screws. The cloth used is absolutely all-wool indigo-dyed broadcloth and all the leather used in tops is strictly first class and tops are hand sewed with wax ends.

That is the reason. Now, all these things that go to make such a good wearing buggy, cost money. Instead of selling through a dealer, we sell direct to the user and therefore are able to put the dealer's profit of $15 to $20 into the buggy and still sell at about the price of the factory kind.

We believe, Mr. Prospective Buyer, that these facts should win your business, not saying a word about the guarantee which guarantees not for one year alone (like the factory buggy guarantee) but against defect in material or workmanship at any time.

If you have ever owned a factory buggy, look over the table below and see if it isn't about right figuring on a rubber tire buggy:
